

Schools Together Group discussion meeting

“Better Together? The how and why of school partnerships”

The discussion will be opened by Martin Robinson, author of Trivium 21st Century, and led by a panel from state and independent schools, with plenty of opportunity for questions and comment from all.

- Is culture and curriculum more important than structure in successful multi-school partnerships?
- What will the Government's green paper proposals mean for cross-sector and other partnerships?

This inaugural event is open to anyone with an interest in inter-school partnerships from state or independent sectors, including school leaders and those responsible for coordinating multi-school or community partnerships across all key stages.

Timing: 16 Nov 2016; 17.30 - 19.30

with refreshments from 17.00

Venue: Westminster School, Little Smith St, London SW1P 3PF

RSVP: nia.bozkurt@isc.co.uk by 1 Nov 2016, stating your role and affiliation

The Schools Together Group is an informal group comprising those in state and independent schools who are responsible for coordinating inter-school partnerships:

“Harnessing the power of partnerships for the benefit of children”.

Please contact the chair, Christina Astin, to be included in future mailings and meetings
cma@kings-school.co.uk

Independent State
Schools Partnerships

